#EUBudget

Throughout the preparations of the next EU budget, I have always argued that we need to invest in people. Because that is what our times require:

We need skilled people in Europe to create growth, to be competitive globally, to embrace digitisation.

We need modern social protection systems. For new forms of work. For our ageing societies.

And we also need to show solidarity with the vulnerable, with the most deprived, with migrants who have the right to stay. It is what makes us human.
